

Good Company Communications Inc.

Women In Film and Video Vancouver Honours Katherine Dodds with "Woman of Vision" Award

For Immediate Release: June 12, 2006

Good Company Communications and Hello Cool World are proud to announce that our own Katherine Dodds will be honoured with WIFVV's Woman of Vision Award on June 22, 2006. This award honours a woman who demonstrates leadership and vision in an enterprise or project that combines traditional entertainment media with the use of new digital technologies. Katherine was selected for this award for her ground-breaking work producing multi-media projects that use the tools of new media to connect audiences, on and offline, with social issue films.

Katherine has been working to develop new social marketing strategies and technologies to take advantage of all the new platforms available; such as blogs, podcasts, and the development of our own Hello Cool World Network. As a new media producer she has been dedicated to innovative creative content that allows audiences to interact with social issue projects. She's exploring and creating new models for new media.

The Annual WIFVV Spotlight Awards Gala is a unique event celebrating the achievements of Canadian women in the entertainment industry. Honourees have not only proven accomplished in their careers but are also considered role models and mentors. Women in Film & Video Vancouver (WIFVV) received a record number of nominations this year for the eight categories of awards. This year's other awardees are Deborah Gabler, Carol Whiteman, Lodi Butler, Liz Shorten, Tara Hungerford, Paul Sharpe, Prem Gill, and Sheila Jordan.

This year's gala event features an elegant 'Gatsby Style' afternoon celebration at the Hycroft Mansion, with world-class entertainment, a seafood martini bar, and an oh-so-civilized croquet tournament with crass cash prizes.

For those of you in Vancouver, you can find information on tickets for the event at the WIFVV website www.womeninfilm.ca. We hope to see you there!

For further information contact:
Lindsey Wasserman
lindsey@hellocoolworld.com
604-251-5567